Lauer's lust for TV

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

More humiliation for wife Annette!

IN THE latest bombshell to rock Matt Lauer's train-wreck marriage, the love rat has secretly carried on a too-close-for-comfort friendship with his morning TV rival, "Good Morning America" co-anchor Lara Spencer!

The notorious "Today" womanizer, 57, was even busted by wife Annette for flirting up a storm with the leggy 45-year-old blonde, multiple sources told The National ENQUIRER.

Lara once accidentally dialed Matt from her cellphone, a well-placed insider revealed, and Annette took the call!

"Annette to this day probably doesn't know that it was Lara on the other end of the phone," said the source.

"Lara was at an event when it occurred. She didn't realize the button had been pressed. It called Matt, and Annette answered. When Lara realized her phone had initiated the call, she put it up to her ear and heard a woman saying, 'Hello, hello.'

"Frantically, Lara hung up!"

Lara has been wed to former CNN journalist David Haffenreffer since 2000, and they have two kids together.

But that hasn't deterred skirt-chasing Matt, sources said!

WHAT'S MORE, ANNETTE, 49, has "always suspected Matt has a crush on Lara" because of their flirtatious relationship.

"Matt just lights up whenever Lara is around, and they seem to share a lot of laughs," said another source.

"Annette will go out of her way to avoid Lara on the social circuit, but she keeps her eye on Matt – for obvious reasons."

Lara's "an outrageous flirt" when it comes to pal Matt, sources said

Annette and Matt have been married 16 years

For Annette, revelations about the extent of Matt's relationship with Lara could be the final nail in the coffin of her 16-year marriage.

She once described Matt in court papers as making her feel "abandoned, isolated and alone in raising" their children.

It's also a bitter betrayal to Matt's struggling "Today" show and his beleaguered colleagues who have lost their top-rated position to "GMA."

The strain on his marriage was apparent when a monster winter storm hit New York City in January, and the "Today" cast was instructed to camp out at the Four Seasons so they could walk to work, revealed an industry insider, who said: "Annette wasn't happy about that, and ordered Matt to stay in their apartment.

"If he had to walk extra blocks in the cold, she didn't care! There was no way Annette was going to have Matt staying in the same hotel as co-host Natalie Morales."

In 2006, while pregnant with their third child, Annette filed for divorce amid talk that Matt was involved with Natalie. She later withdrew the papers.

FOR NOW, ANNETTE'S family is seriously concerned about her, The ENQUIRER has learned. According to family friend Nils Fonteijn, Matt's in-laws remain "deeply upset at the continuing strife in Annette's marriage, and her mother is frantic with worry."

Nils, a pal of Annette's stepdad, Dr. Dick Struijk, for over 30 years, told The ENQUIRER that they "suspect he [Matt] could be fooling around again," adding: "Dr. Struijk, who doesn't often use vulgarities, told me, 'His [Matt's] brain is in his d--k!'"

MATT & KATIE BOTH WANT WILLIAMS' JOB

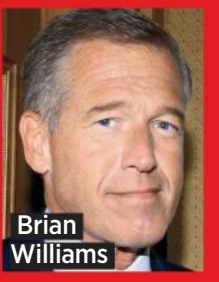

Katie Couric

MATT Lauer wants to replace lying "NBC Nightly News" anchor Brian Williams, but faces a pitched battle with his former "Today" co-host Katie Couric.

Matt has privately declared, "It'll be over my dead body that Katie gets the job," sources told The National ENQUIRER.

The behind-the-scenes war erupted as the network slapped Williams with a six-month suspension without pay Feb. 10, after he was caught lying about being under fire during the Iraq War.

Brian Williams

Lester Holt will continue to substitute during Williams' punishment, but insiders said the disgraced anchor is unlikely to return – and Matt heads the list of likely replacements.

"Matt hated Brian with a passion, and now believes he's the rightful heir to the job as the biggest star at the network," said an insider.

"He's furious Katie has also expressed interest in it."

While "Today" co-host Savannah Guthrie may be a candidate for the anchor chair, insiders said it will likely go to Matt or Katie – who had a long-running feud until Katie left to take over as anchor of the "CBS Evening News" in 2006.

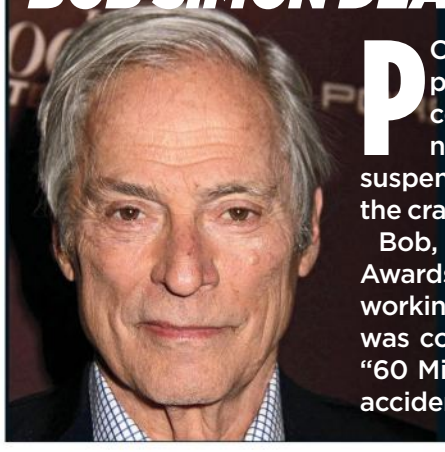

Katie has since been working as Yahoo's "global news anchor."

"You have to remember Matt was humiliated when 'Today' bosses dangled a $100 million, five-year contract in front of Katie in a last-ditch bid to keep her from [going to CBS]," said another source.

"Furious Matt, who was then earning $9 million a year compared to her $15 million, threatened to quit.

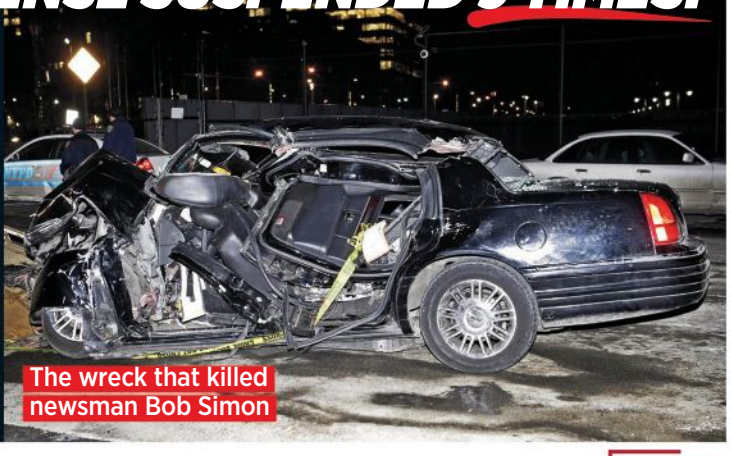

"While Matt ended up signing a $21.5 million contract, he really hates Katie. There will be blood spilled over Brian's anchor gig – that's for sure!"

BOB SIMON DEATH DRIVER HAD LICENSE SUSPENDED 9 TIMES!

POLICE said the driver of the car transporting legendary CBS News war correspondent and "60 Minutes" luminary Bob Simon had his driver's license suspended an extraordinary nine times before the crash.

Bob, 73, accumulated an amazing 27 Emmy Awards over an almost 50-year career. He was working on a report about Ebola – on which he was collaborating with his daughter, Tanya, a "60 Minutes" producer – when he died in the accident on Manhattan's West Side on Feb. 11.

Love 'em-and-leave 'em Kate to see a shrink

KATE Hudson may start seeing a shrink about her man problem!

"I'm a runner," the 35-year-old beauty told a friend. "I just can't seem to stick with one man for too long before I get bored or think the grass is greener somewhere else!"

The candid confession comes after Kate's split from fiancé, Muse frontman Matthew Bellamy, father of her 3-year-old son, Bingham, late last year.

Since then, the "Almost Famous" stunner – notorious for her love 'em-and-leave 'em past – has been linked to "Dancing with the Stars" pro Derek Hough.

Kate ended her six-year marriage to Black Crowes musician Chris Robinson in 2006, and then dated "You, Me and Dupree" star Owen Wilson, actor and comedian Dax Shepard, New York Yankees slugger Alex Rodriguez and former cyclist Lance Armstrong.

While Kate's pal said the actress wants to "stay friends" with Matthew for their son's sake, "Kate is really looking for true, long-lasting love.

"Since she played [groupie] Penny Lane in 'Almost Famous,' she's felt it's cool to be with rock 'n' roll guys.

"But everyone knows rock stars are always traveling and have late nights with lots of friends and groupies.

"So Kate came up with her idea to seek input on her choices and why she makes the choices in love that she does."

Kate also told talk show host Ellen DeGeneres that she's been under pressure from Ryder, her 11-year-old son with Chris, to get married again.

As for Kate seeing a shrink, her friend said: "A counselor or therapist would probably spend some time on why Kate keeps dating and marrying fellow performers. The counselor would want to have her discuss the manner that her work, and her boyfriend's work as a performer, could impact a relationship."

Kate and ex-fiancé Matt [with Bingham] remain close pals and committed co-parents

A BABY GIRL FOR SANDRA!

SANDRA Bullock isn't letting recent heartbreak keep her from becoming a mother again – as the "Gravity" star gets ready to adopt a bouncing baby girl!

"Her plan was always to adopt another after Louis turned two, but then she found herself hopeful about finding love," a family friend told The National ENQUIRER. "She put those plans on hold, but one romance after another fizzled."

The 50-year-old beauty had also delayed her plans while enjoying a hot fling with "Captain America" and "Avengers" star Chris Evans.

"Sandra knew it wasn't going to go anywhere, as Chris is 17 years younger than she is," said the insider. "But she had fun with him, and didn't want to go through an adoption while they were dating."

Now Sandra is back to concentrating on her life as a mother – which began when the star continued her adoption of baby Louis even as her marriage to motorcycle builder Jesse James fell apart.

"Sandra wants a little baby girl this time around. She's looking in New Orleans, where Louis was born, but she's not limiting herself to that city," the source told The ENQUIRER.

Sandra isn't limiting herself to waiting for a new husband either!

"Louis is five now. She didn't want the kids to be that far apart in age, but it's going to happen that way – so she wants to move fast," added the insider.

Kim to Clooney's Amal:

LET ME WORK FOR YOU!

Kardashian wants to be a do-gooder, just like Angie!

PLANNING A NEW IMAGE

GEORGE Clooney's lawyer wife Amal has a Hollywood headache – with Kim Kardashian calling to offer her services as a legal assistant!

The respected London attorney – who married George last September – is dodging Kim's messages while working on a landmark human rights case seeking to overturn the denial of the early 20th century Armenian genocide.

The 34-year-old reality series starlet has been outspoken about her Armenian heritage, recently announcing that she's making her first pilgrimage this spring to the ancestral homeland of her late father [and O.J. Simpson "dream team" attorney] Robert Kardashian.

"Kim has been telling friends that she has plans to do lots of humanitarian work this year. She wants to follow in the footsteps of Angelina Jolie," a source told The National ENQUIRER. Angie famously transformed from a drug-using wild gal to a respected activist.

"Kim has been calling George's handlers, pleading for an introduction to Amal," the source added.

"Kim also emailed Amal's London law office hoping to track her down. Despite that Kim doesn't have a law degree or even a college degree, she wants Amal to hire her as a consultant on the Armenia case."

Amal, however, recently endured several snide comparisons to Kim – with the Lebanon-born bride mocked for her glamorous fashion sense and a carefully choreographed Italian wedding to her movie star husband.

Amal is a member of the legal team in an Armenian genocide case

"Kim is eager to smarten up her image. She's planning on visiting refugees from Syria when she goes to Armenia, and she's trying to convince Amal that teaming up is a win/win for both of them," the insider confided.

"But Amal and George are blowing Kim off. They want nothing to do with her or her down-market, reality TV family.

"Amal doesn't need an advisor – and if she did, Kim Kardashian is the last person she'd turn to for help."

WORLD EXCLUSIVE

EXPLOSIVE EYEWITNESS REVEALS WHA

'It makes no sense. Bobbi Kristina was naked in ice cold water. She didn't put herself in the tub!'

POLICE have interviewed a top-secret witness in the Bobbi Kristina Brown tragedy in a desperate attempt to determine if foul play was at the center of her mysterious drowning.

The National ENQUIRER can identify the informant as 18-year-old high school senior Danyela Bradley, who has sensationally revealed that she heroically tried to resuscitate Whitney Houston's troubled daughter after the 21-year-old was found lifeless in the bathtub on Jan. 31.

IN A TRAGIC stroke of fate, Danyela had been staying on and off in the townhouse owned by the music heiress in the Atlanta suburb of Roswell since mid-January after becoming infatuated with Max Lomas, a 24-year-old accused drug dealer.

The ENQUIRER can reveal that Lomas is best friends with Bobbi Kristina's "self proclaimed" husband Nick Gordon – and Danyela became a trusted insider in their drug-infested, gun-toting entourage.

But on the fateful "messed up" morning, all their worlds came crashing down when they were frantically summoned to the bathroom in Bobbi Kristina's multimillion-dollar townhouse, where she was floating face down in a tub of ice-cold water.

ACCORDING TO THE account Danyela has given her family, the group frantically – but unsuccessfully – tried to revive her.

Danyela's grief-stricken mother, Marlene Bradley, 50, told The ENQUIRER in a world

exclusive interview: "Danyela said to us, 'I want to tell you what happened. But I can't tell you. It's so messed up.'

"She insinuated to us that she doesn't think it was an accident. She said the police are looking at Max as a suspect because of his past but she said, 'He didn't do anything but save [Bobbi Kristina].' She said, 'Nick was the last person to see [Bobbi Kristina] alive!'"

Police interviewed Danyela and confiscated her cell phone under a search warrant – and she potentially will be a key witness in piecing together what really happened inside the home Bobbi Kristina once shared with her mother Whitney.

THE STUNNING revelations from the shattered Bradley family also provide new insight into the criminal probe.

Initially, cops said that Bobbi Kristina was discovered by Nick and Max. That was in addition to a cable man who reportedly arrived at the house for a scheduled appointment – meaning Marlene's disclosures to The ENQUIRER reveal there were four witnesses in the house.

It's possible a fifth person was present, Marlene added.

That prime witness is Duane Tyrone Hall, who was photographed with Bobbi Kristina in an image posted on the CUTS & BRUISES: THE HALLMARKS OF AN ADDICT!

PITIFUL photos of Bobbi Kristina Brown show the tragic deterioration of Whitney Houston's druggie daughter – and now renowned medical examiner Dr. Cyril Wecht has concluded that her body was riddled with needle marks!

As The ENQUIRER revealed last week, close pals witnessed Bobbi Kristina binging on heroin and crack before she was found unconscious in her home Jan. 31.

In one graphic picture obtained by The ENQUIRER, puncture wounds are clearly visible on the 21-year-old's left hand.

"The marks on the back of her left hand are certainly suggestive of healed puncture marks," Dr. Wecht told The ENQUIRER in an exclusive interview.

He also examined an Instagram photo of a rail-thin Bobbi Kristina with red blotches on her chest, and noted the marks "are strongly suggestive that she is having a drug reaction." She seems to have suffered a suspicious burn on her chest, he explained.

Dr. Wecht added that Bobbi Kristina had bruises on her legs and left arm that could possibly be from needle puncture marks.

COP TASERS DRIVER, 76, OVER INSPECTION STICKER

Hotheaded officer fired for frenzied attack

A DISGRACED cop has lost his job after tasering a 76-year-old man – turning a small-town traffic stop into a big Texas scandal!

At the time, Pete was returning the car to Adam's Auto Mart, where the grandfather works as a mechanic. He attempted to explain to the young officer that the car had dealership tags and was exempt from the law.

The elderly driver even offered to have the manager at the Auto Mart explain the dealership tags to the officer.

Pete was detained after the altercation for two hours

But, as seen in disturbing dashcam footage, Officer Robinson responded by abruptly throwing Pete against the hood of the police car. The hotheaded cop then roughed up and wrestled the defenseless man to the ground before shooting him twice with a Taser.

The altercation was witnessed by Adam's Auto Mart sales manager Larry Urich: "I told the officer, 'What in the hell are you doing?' This gentleman is 76 years old.

"The cop told me to stand back, but I didn't shut up. I told him he was a G--damn Nazi Stormtrooper."

Larry then followed the police vehicle as Pete was taken to a hospital in handcuffs.

Pete was kept in custody for two hours before being released without any charges being filed. The excitable 23-year-old policeman was put on administrative leave shortly after the incident.

Meanwhile, the dashcam footage quickly turned the local story into national news – with some dialogue on the video obscured by the loud rap music Officer Robinson was playing in his patrol car.

Nathanial Robinson was fired about a month after the unprovoked assault was caught on camera

The Victoria Police Department announced Officer Robinson's dismissal on January 5. An official press release explained that the volatile cop was found to have violated three departmental policies – including conduct and performance, use of force and arrest without a warrant.

Local police chief J.J. Craig offered a formal apology to Pete, who has five children and 20 grandkids, but his attorney is requesting that the Texas Rangers file criminal charges against the former police officer.

The case has been forwarded to the Victoria District Attorney's Office for review.

Despite recurring hints that a "Sex and the City 3" deal's heartbeats away, here's what keeps killing it: Producer-star SARAH JESSICA PARKER's demanding a staggering FIFTY MILLION BUCK$$$ – JUST FOR HER! Said My Sex Spy: "Even though KIM CATTRALL, CYNTHIA NIXON and KRISTIN DAVIS are all dying to revive the enormously popular worldwide franchise, Sarah Jessica's pouring cold water on the deal by demanding that hot-to-trot New Line Cinema fork over her $50 mil. 'DR. DEATH' MURDERED FIVE WITH PILLS, SAYS PROSECUTOR!

He holds the record for patient deaths

A DOPE-dealing doc has the blood of at least five fatal overdoses on his hands after pumping hundreds of patients full of painkillers, federal prosecutors claimed to The National ENQUIRER.

Stunned by the sheer number of patients ushered through his practice, the feds are taking the unusual step of pursuing a sentence of life in prison for Dr. Jaime Guerrero, from Louisville, Ky.

Bombshell court documents obtained by The ENQUIRER allege Guerrero crammed in more than 100 clients a day, seeing them for less than three minutes each, before prescribing some of the strongest painkillers available today.

Prosecutors accused Guerrero of causing more patient deaths in the Western District of Kentucky than any other physician previously charged.

The new "Dr. Death" is accused of improperly writing prescriptions for oxycodone, hydrocodone [Vicodin] and methadone for dozens of patients – none of whom had actual medical needs!

He is facing criminal fines of $2.75 million. But the "script-scrawling" pain doc is free after posting a $50,000 bond ahead of his March 31 court date.

Guerrero ran pain-management offices in Louisville and Jeffersonville, Ind.

Prosecutors charge the 47-year-old doc wrote 1,059 prescriptions for oxycodone – often misused as a recreational drug – in 2012.

Senior citizens kept Guerrero particularly busy in 2012 – more than 99 percent of his patients that year were over 65 years old.

The Bluegrass State has a particularly bad rep for quacks, said U.S. Attorney John E. Kuhn Jr.: "The prescribing practices of a very few physicians in Kentucky have caused immeasurable harm."

The pill-pusher's offices are closed, and his medical license is currently suspended in Indiana.

Dr. Jaime Guerrero could be responsible for the death of five patients

Wife-killer cop facing new charge

KILLER cop Drew Peterson – already imprisoned for murdering one of his exes – is close to finally being charged with the murder of his wife Stacy, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

The shocking development comes after Peterson, 60, was charged on Feb. 9 with two counts of murder solicitation for allegedly hiring someone to kill Will County [Illinois] State's Attorney James Glasgow, who sent Peterson to prison for 38 years in 2013.

Peterson, a former Bolingbrook, Ill., cop, was found guilty of murdering his third wife, Kathleen Savio, 40, whose body was found in a dry bathtub in March 2004.

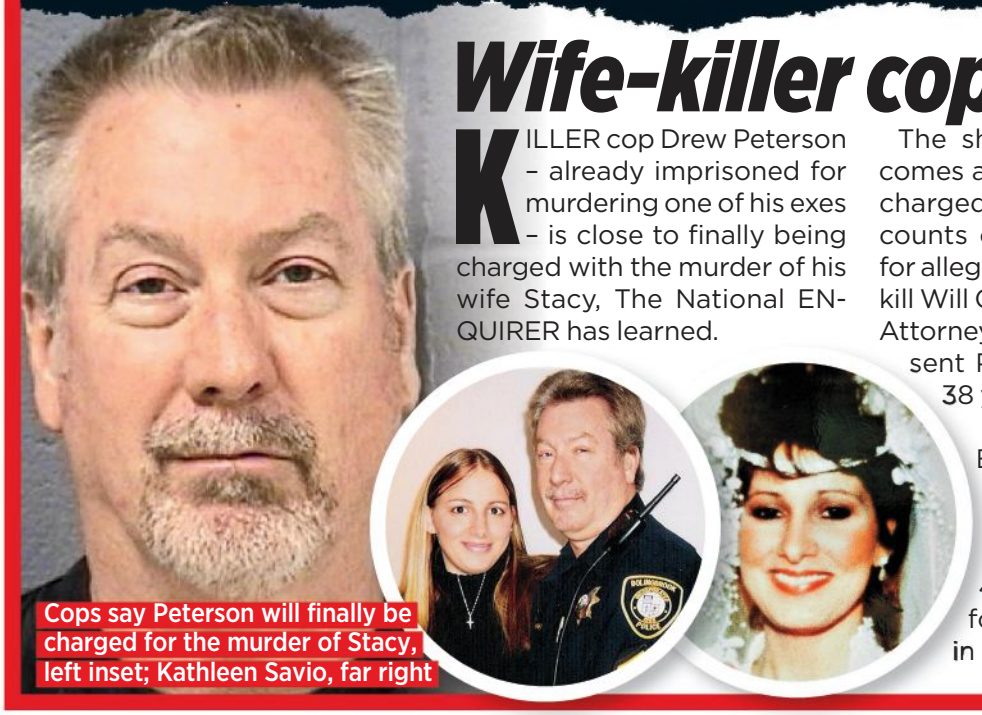

Her death was first ruled an accidental drowning, but her body was exhumed after Peterson's fourth wife, Stacy, disappeared in late 2007.

Now, police say they are close to charging him with her murder.

"We are close – a few pieces away," said a source inside the investigation.

"The smile's been knocked off his face," added another source. "Once-cocky Drew is the scum of the earth. We will have the last laugh."

Exhume Anna Nicole's body NOW!

Bring her back to America, say detectives seeking justice at last

THREE leading criminologists are demanding that the corpse of Anna Nicole Smith be exhumed and brought back to the United States – after a bombshell National ENQUIRER investigation unearthed sensational new revelations about the demise of the beloved Playboy model!

Anna Nicole is buried next to her son in a cemetery in the Bahamas

The troubling claims include that Anna Nicole, 39 years old at the time of her death, may have been coerced into ingesting a lethal cocktail of drugs.

Dr. William Manion

The ENQUIRER also revealed that the coroner's report may have been "faked," and that the blonde beauty received a "mysterious injection" from a shadowy figure hours before her death.

Dr. William Manion, a renowned forensic pathologist, is among those now calling for Anna Nicole's exhumation.

"They should examine and analyze some liver tissue," Dr. Manion told The ENQUIRER. "They should look at the neck bones and hyoid bones, and take X-rays of the neck and head area to check for any fractures."

Anna Nicole is buried beside her son, Daniel, who passed just five months before her, at the Lakeview Cemetery in Nassau, Bahamas.

"It's time to determine if we're looking at a double murder and cover-up," former FBI agent Ted Gunderson said.

"The best way to do that would be to exhume the bodies, bring them back to the States and give them fresh autopsies by an independent medical examiner."

Retired Judge Larry Seidlin is also calling for Anna Nicole's return. He presided over the hearing which decided that Anna Nicole should be buried next to Daniel, and later penned a tell-all book in which he said he saw "red flags" during the proceedings.

Questions over her death have lingered ever since Anna Nicole collapsed at the Seminole Hard Rock Hotel & Casino in Hollywood, Fla., in 2007.

Anna Nicole's half-sister Amy Chapman told The ENQUIRER that she keeps hoping for police to reopen the case.

Finally… an adult brief that keeps you dry all night!

Special Introductory Price!

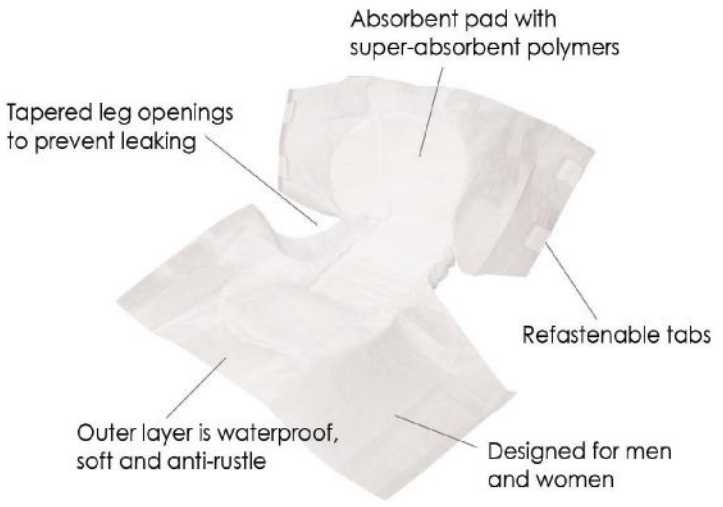

- 104.8 oz capacity
- Superior fit and comfort
- Leak and odor proof
- No skin irritation
- Discreet packaging

Night Proofs™ Briefs are virtually leak proof, comfortable and so absorbent you'll sleep through the night without needing a change.

It's a problem no one likes to talk about, but over 25 million Americans suffer from urinary incontinence. For those people, the problem is embarrassing, uncomfortable and can lead to a variety of other health issues such as skin irritation. Now there's an adult diaper that fully absorbs the liquid and pulls it away from the skin leaving little opportunity for skin irritation, or other incontinence-related problems. Plus for many, a good night's sleep uninterrupted, leak-free is the best news of all. Adult diapers have been on the market for years, but because most are sold to hospitals, where frequent changing is not an issue, they simply have not been designed to last through the night. Night Proofs™ Briefs are–and they do!

Our Leak-Proof Test:
Take a Night Proofs™ Briefs and pour eight full 12-oz glasses of water into it. The water will be fully absorbed and the surface of the lining will remain dry. (If you attempt this test with other adult diapers, you better try it over the sink!)

Night Proofs™ Briefs are different:
They are one of the most absorbent adult diapers on the market today Just one look tells you that Night Proofs™ Briefs are very different from store brands.

- They are much thicker – with a superior design that keeps working all night so you can sleep in peace.
- The polyethylene back prevents leaks and provides 12-hour protection. Water passes through cloth diapers, but it doesn't penetrate the poly back. It's that simple.
- They are designed for home use, with refastenable tabs, leak-proof leg cuffs and a wetness indicator that caregivers really appreciate. They're also adjustable, breathable, and latex-free as well as odor resistant and discreet.

Why spend another night without them?

COLEMAN'S RESTING PLACE TO STAY SECRET

Gary will get peace in death, far away from his ex

FOUR years after Gary Coleman's death at age 42, the "Diff'rent Strokes" star's ashes are locked away from his ex-wife – and the world!

"Gary Coleman's final resting place will be a secret," his friend Anna Gray exclusively told The National ENQUIRER.

Anna, who also ran Gary's corporation, was named executor and beneficiary of his will after a legal battle against his ex-wife Shannon Price.

Shannon claimed the star had signed a handwritten codicil altering his 2005 will that named her sole heir and executor.

Gary's ex-wife Shannon won't be told the location of his remains

"After a two-year court battle, I brought Gary's ashes back to Oregon," Anna told The ENQUIRER. "I have yet to choose a final resting place, but when I do, I will never share it with anyone – not even my husband.

"Gary's last and most horrible fear was that even in death he wouldn't be allowed any peace."

Shannon asked Anna for half of Gary's ashes after the court battle. "No way," said Anna.

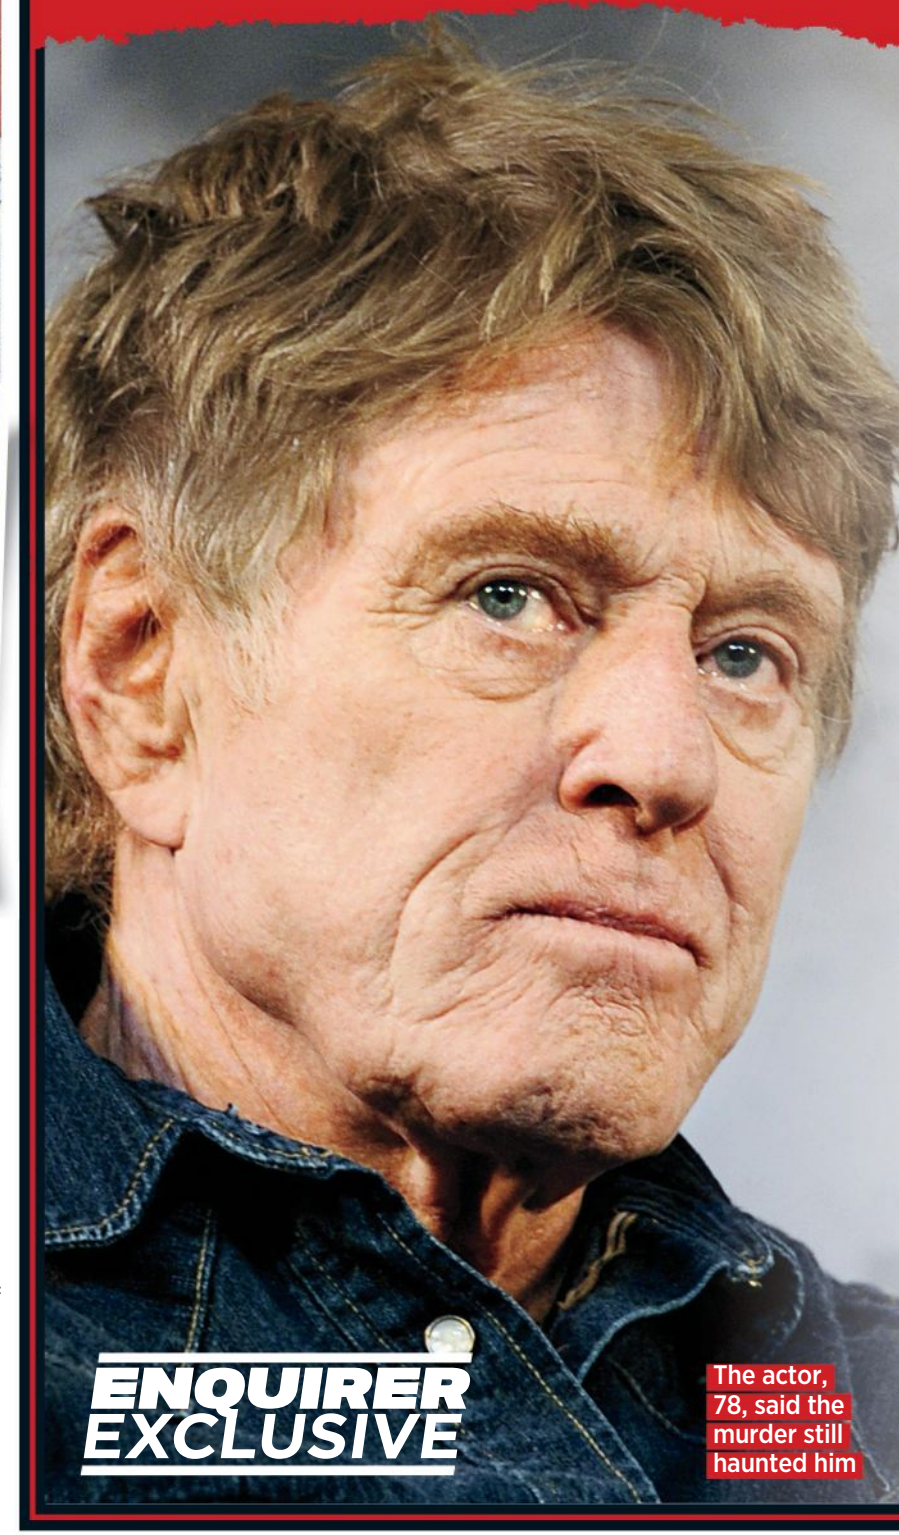

"That is not what Gary would have wanted. Gary wanted a peaceful life. In death I am going to give him that peace."

UN KILLER 'S REDFORD

HOLLYWOOD legend Robert Redford is hiding a secret heartbreak.

The thug charged with murdering his daughter's fiancé more than 30 years ago remains free – and authorities are asking readers of The National ENQUIRER to help catch him.

Back in 1983, Shauna Redford, then 22, was engaged to Sid Wells. Both attended the University of Colorado in Boulder, and friends described Sid as "a clean-cut, all-American boy."

But on Aug. 1, the journalism student was found lying in a pool of blood, with a shotgun blast to the back of his head, at a condo his parents owned. Sid had rented the home to Thayne Alan Smika, but Smika had fallen behind on his rent payments.

Thayne Smika's original mugshot, left, and an age-progressed sketch of what he may look like now

After giving elusive and conflicting accounts to police, Smika was arrested. But he was not indicted due to lack of evidence.

Recalling the tragic aftermath, Sid's mother, June Menger, said: "Shauna quit college. She grieved in ways that I can't even imagine." Sadly, June died last year after a battle with cancer.

Robert Redford's daughter Shauna dated Sid for three years before his murder

ROBERT HAD BEFRIENDED Sid, and left the set of "The Natural" to attend his funeral. Years later, the Oscar-winning actor described the tragedy as "like a partially opened door with a very dark room behind it."

Finally, in 2010, through the tireless work of cold case detectives, enough evidence was unearthed to file a first-degree murder warrant against Smika.

A Boulder police spokesperson told The ENQUIRER: "Several years ago we investigated a reported sighting of Smika in the Ventura, Calif., area. He was supposedly working as a plumber and was reported to have been seen in a Home Depot there."

Cops went to California, and spoke to employees of Home Depot and plumbing supply stores.

"We showed them photos of Smika, but no one was able to confirm having seen him. We also received a tip that Smika may be living in Mexico, but the witness who reported that has since died," the spokesperson added.

Boulder police have given The ENQUIRER sketches of Smika's possible age-enhanced appearance.

Authorities said Smika may be working in the real estate or financial industry. He speaks Spanish and has been known to use the alias, "Thaymes Micah."

The FBI has offered a $10,000 reward for information leading to his capture and conviction.

■ If you have information regarding Smika's whereabouts, please call the Boulder Police Department's confidential tip line at (303) 441-1974. Help bring this fugitive to justice and – at last – ease actor Robert Redford's secret pain.

KNIFESTYLES of the rich & famous

FACELIFT AT 50 FOR FLOCKHART!

But hubby Harrison Ford's not complaining!

CALISTA Flockhart celebrated her 50th birthday in true Hollywood style – with an impressive new face!

The social scene in Los Angeles hadn't seen much of the actress after she marked the big 5-Oh-No! this past Nov. 11.

Then she showed up with hubby Harrison Ford at the Golden Globe Awards on Jan. 11 – and experts told The National ENQUIRER that Calista owes her stunning new look to spectacular plastic surgery!

"Calista has had some beautiful work done by a real master. I see the hand of a friend of mine in all this!" raved Dr. Lyle Back, who hasn't treated Calista, but was one of three plastic surgeons offering a professional opinion to The ENQUIRER.

"[Her] nasolabial folds are lessened; bands under the jaw are less. Her cheekbones are more prominent, and the lower face is tighter," said facial plastic surgeon Dr. David Alessi. "In my opinion, it is probable that she had ... a limited lower facelift."

Dr. Yoel Shahar, a cosmetic surgeon who also hasn't treated Calista, added: "She probably had Botox done, since the lateral eyebrow is higher and there are no visible, angry lines."

While a rep for Calista said talk of a nip and tuck was "absolutely not true," her new look has also prompted talk in Calista's swanky L.A. suburb!

"Calista was out of sight for a couple of months – but it's common for men and women in Brentwood to just fall off the grid for a while when they go in for plastic surgery," one local insider divulged.

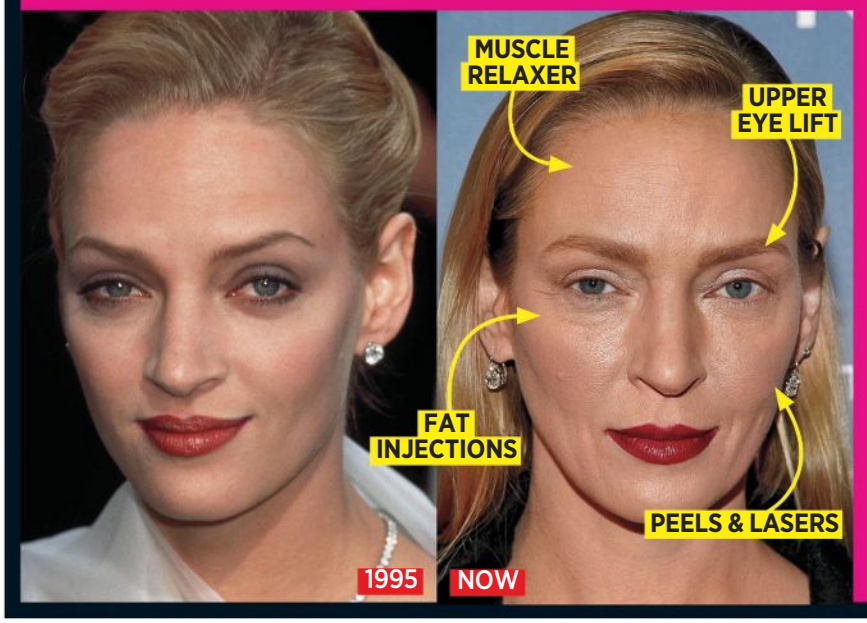

Calista showed off her fab new look in January; inset, the star looked drab in Jan. 2014

"Then, voilà! Calista's back as if nothing has happened – but something clearly had happened.

"Her face was completely immobile!"

LOOKS LIKE UMA'S HAD SOME WORK DONE!

UMA Thurman shocked onlookers at the Feb. 9 premiere of her NBC miniseries, "The Slap," when she showed up with what looked like a completely different face!

Even plastic surgery experts, who have not treated the "Kill Bill" star, were stunned by the 44-year-old's metamorphosis.

"Uma looks totally transformed," plastic surgeon Dr. Anthony Youn told The National ENQUIRER. He speculated she had an "upper eyelid lift," along with treatments to eliminate the bags beneath her eyes. "Her lower eyelids now blend in with her upper cheeks, which is a possible result of fat injections," the surgeon added.

Though the star denied having any work done, Dr. Youn also pointed out a difference in Uma's skin. "The skin on her face is super smooth," he said. "That could be the result of recent chemical peels and laser treatments."

And that's not necessarily for the better, according to plastic surgeon Dr. Ramtin Kassir. "The goal of plastic surgery is not to make you look like a different person," Dr. Kassir said.

PARIS' DESPAIR!

Pining for Neverland, she plants Zen garden on property's grounds

Legal wrangles taking their toll on Katherine's health

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

SINCE her shocking suicide attempt, a still-grieving Paris Jackson has made secret visits to her late father's beloved Neverland Ranch, inside sources have told The National ENQUIRER.

The 16-year-old helped plant a Zen garden on the property while rebuilding her life at a private boarding school, insiders revealed.

But the King of Pop's daughter still struggles with the impending loss of her father's famed Los Olivos, Calif., estate, where he lived from 1988 to 2005.

"More than anyone else, losing Neverland hurts Paris the most without a doubt," a family insider told The ENQUIRER.

"She's been there more than her siblings – but, even more than that, Michael's parents, brothers and sisters never go up."

In June 2013, a troubled Paris cut her wrists and took an overdose of Motrin pills. Afterward, worried family members enrolled her in a therapeutic boarding school in Utah.

She's also grown closer to her mother, Debbie Rowe, and regularly visits Neverland, where she's lovingly planted a secret Zen garden where a Ferris wheel once stood.

The Zen garden also features benches where Paris meditates, and has perennial plants in the shape of animals that were once housed in Neverland's zoo.

"There are things up at Neverland that she insisted upon while she still has the access, and the garden was one of them," disclosed the source.

According to another insider, Paris had Michael's favorite image – a Peter Pan–like boy sitting on a quarter moon – carved into the ground in the middle of the garden.

Restoring Neverland has helped Paris recall many of the things her father taught her, sources said.

"She reflects on how Michael would talk to her about not losing her innocence as a child, to not let people – even family – take advantage of her, and to always look after her brothers," the insider said.

A cash-strapped Michael turned over the estate to Colony Capital before he died at age 50 in June 2009.

The firm has put a $75 million price tag on Neverland, but there had been hope that the executors of Michael's $1 billion estate would buy the property.

"We are frustrated, bitterly disappointed, and saddened that it has come to this," said a representative for the estate executors.

Paris, with older brother Prince and parents Michael and Debbie

MICHAEL Jackson's sickly mother is risking her life while pursuing a massive lawsuit over her son's death – all for the other Jacksons who never matched Michael's stardom!

That's why Katherine Jackson keeps going to court against the concert promoters who she blames for Michael's death in 2009.

"Katherine wants to help out Michael's brothers – Jermaine, Jackie, Tito, Marlon and Randy – because they could use the money. The only one she doesn't have to worry about is daughter Janet, who is financially set," divulged an insider.

Katherine's attorneys lost their first billion-dollar lawsuit against AEG Live last October, with promoters cleared of negligence in 50-year-old Michael's death. Now she's back in court for a second attempt to win a new trial.

A spokesperson for the 84-year-old matriarch said Katherine is in "amazing health" – but sources claimed she is carrying on despite being "fragile" and having "high blood pressure and unspecified cardiovascular issues."

ROSIE'S TANGLED, TORMENTED LIFE!

Michelle

Now her departure means more time for Rosie to deal with her departing wife, Michelle Rounds, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

"Rosie and Michelle were having problems since April," said an insider, referring to the 43-year-old wife Rosie, 52, married in June 2012 – just two months before her near-fatal heart attack.

The couple soon adopted an infant girl named Dakota, with Rosie then inviting her ex-wife, Kelli Carpenter, to help them raise the little child!

"Shelly reluctantly agreed to the idea," said the source.

"But Kelli was becoming a big-time buttinski and part of the family fabric, so to speak. It ended up being one three-way that Shelly wasn't enjoying at all!"

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

RAGIN' ROSIE'S MARRIAGE AT RISK!

Her wife can't take much more of the tantrums, pals fear

ROSIE O'Donnell is unraveling on "The View," and friends fear her marriage to Michelle Rounds could end in a $100 million divorce!

The outspoken mother of five has been sparring on-air with co-host Whoopi Goldberg, and throwing temper tantrums behind the scenes, sources dished to The National ENQUIRER.

"You can imagine how it must be at home for poor Michelle," a source said. "Rosie has long battled depression and she's prone to screaming fits. The pressure she's been under on the show has left her coming apart at the seams.

"Living with Rosie before 'The View' was no picnic for Michelle. I think it's only a matter of time before she pulls the plug on the marriage."

Rosie, 52, appeared to hit her breaking point during an on-air shouting match with Whoopi over race relations on Dec. 18.

Things have gotten so bad that fellow "View" panelist Rosie Perez, who has become a viewer favorite, is bolting to do a Broadway show.

But the couple has had a rocky road – starting with Michelle's ultra-conservative father, Roger Rounds, expressing shock at being told by The ENQUIRER that his daughter was gay.

Michelle, 43, was diagnosed with rare gastrointestinal desmoid tumors in May 2012, and had surgery to remove them. The ordeal forced Rosie and Michelle to postpone their nuptials. They finally wed in June 2012.

Only two months later, Rosie suffered a heart attack and underwent surgery. In 2013 the pair adopted a baby girl, Dakota.

Now Rosie's return to the daytime talk show has turned into a disaster.

"Rosie went through a divorce in 2009 from first wife Kelli Carpenter that was especially difficult because of their four children," explained the source.

"Now I expect Michelle's having second thoughts on her marriage. If she and Rosie split, it will lead to a $100 million divorce."

Michelle also had to deal with Rosie's ex-girlfriend Tracy Kachtick-Anders, a Texas artist with six kids who remain active in the lives of Rosie, Kelli and the four kids the former couple was already raising together.

Rosie with first wife Kelli

And now Rosie is trying to cope with her continuing warm feelings for Kelli!

"Looking back, Ro feels Kell was the love of her life, while Michelle was more like her midlife crisis," the source dished.

Rosie doesn't seem ready to settle down again, though. Just a day after announcing her big split from Michelle, Rosie visited NYC's all-girl Barnard College, growling: "I felt like a lesbian cougar. All these gorgeous twentysomething girls!"

YOU READ IT HERE FIRST!

The ENQUIRER first reported on Rosie's deteriorating marriage with wife Michelle last July. We also went to press about their imminent break-up just days before the comedian made the blockbuster news official.

Vonn's gone NUTS at Tiger!

OLYMPIC gold medalist Lindsey Vonn has bailed after learning that her boyfriend, Tiger Woods, still owes his ex-wife, Elin Nordegren, $54.5 million from their 2010 divorce settlement.

"Lindsey hit the roof when she found out," a pal told The National ENQUIRER.

Tiger reportedly agreed to fork over an estimated $110 million to Elin over six years in the settlement.

Lindsey, 30, blasted the golf phenom, 39, for keeping that deal a secret.

"One of the first things he told me was he would never keep anything from me about his life," Lindsey told a friend. "I wonder what other secrets he has."

The fallout has also hurt his golf game. Some PGA tour players question whether he will ever play again.

"The last month, Tiger has played some of the worst golf in his life," said a friend.

50 SHADES OF CE

SPECIAL INVESTIGATION

America's hot new movie has nothing on the real-life antics of a famous kinky club

IT'S the hottest movie on the big screen right now, but "Fifty Shades of Grey" can't hold a candle of dripping hot wax to the wild and sleazy antics of celebrities that took place in New York City's most notorious S&M club of the '80s and '90s!

The Vault was a dark and dungeon-like destination in New York's formerly seedy Meatpacking District between 1984 and 1997 – long before "Fifty Shades" took S&M to suburbia. Shockingly, some of the era's biggest stars were among its kinkiest customers!

The underground club served up a sleazy souffle of "gays, goths, slave auctions, tickle torturers and diaper-donning fetishists on leashes and dog collars!"

Here, former manager Anthony Marini lifts the lid on the long-closed Vault for The ENQUIRER, and exposes some of the wildest episodes with today's hottest names!

MADONNA

The pop star helped make The Vault famous. "When she first came in in '92, The Vault was not celebrity-oriented. She was an observer, and her viewing preference seemed to be homosexual acts ... She preferred young guys, particularly Latin men," Anthony said. Madonna would later use Vault security guard Lucifer in photos for her book, "SEX."

SHARON STONE

The "Basic Instinct" sex bomb arrived at the club with two other women. "That night there was a lesbian scene in the dimly lit back portion of the club where we had a jail cell. She was watching the girls torture each other and getting it on. I remember her spending most of the night back there."

ROSEANNE BARR

Anthony said the sitcom star was responsible for The Vault banning celebs. "She was loud and obnoxious. Roseanne was mocking everybody and making off-color remarks. We eventually bounced her out." Regulars threatened a boycott, and The Vault soon closed forever.

PAMELA ANDERSON & TOMMY LEE

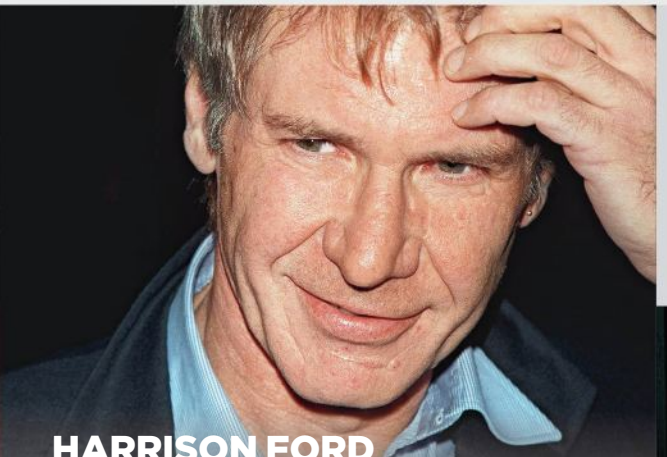

The wild '90s couple arrived "with a Pamela lookalike. Tommy bound both women back-to-back on the torture chair. Right in front of everybody, he commenced smacking them and touching their breasts."

MICKEY ROURKE

The "Barfly" actor showed up at the club looking "like he'd been partying for eight months straight." The staff went looking for Mickey after he disappeared: "We finally found him in the bathroom with a transvestite."

LEBRITY SEX!

HARRISON FORD

The night Harrison visited, "he had two blondes on his arm. Hot-looking stripper types like you see at go-go bars. The manager called and said, 'Get Harrison out of The Vault. There are a couple of photographers around and he'll get nabbed.' Harrison put on a black raincoat, a black hat, exited the back door and hailed a cab. Two days later, he sent a gift basket to the club with a card that said, 'Thanks for saving my a--.'"

HEATHER LOCKLEAR

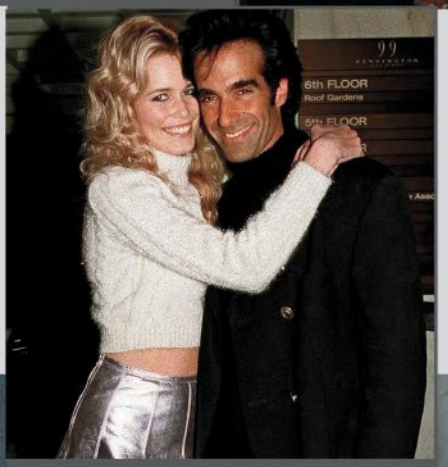

Tommy Lee's ex-wife was "one of the coolest celebrities we ever hosted." While Heather was sitting at the bar, a regular wrapped in chains spent time with another foot-worshipper groveling on the floor beneath her. "She was perfectly calm about this display of affection."

NAOMI CAMPBELL

The catwalk queen "was always with other girls when she entered the club. She was the type that would tell you to f--- off if you got too close to her, and she didn't want you near."

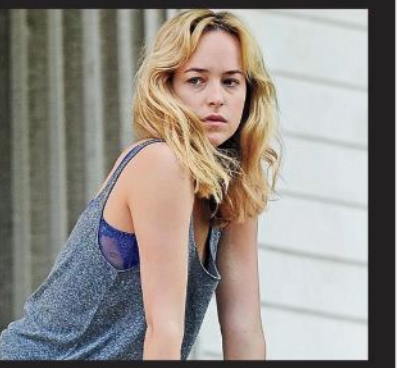

DAVID COPPERFIELD & CLAUDIA SCHIFFER

The couple arrived with their realtor after viewing apartments. Before long, they wound up in the back room where there was a jail cell and "had an intense, heavy session," and "David had his hands all over her."

ROBERT DOWNEY JR & COREY FELDMAN

These two [now reformed] bad boys "wound up hooking up with a pair of transvestites. And these were bad transvestites – guys that looked like Chinese food delivery men wearing wigs." The stars left with the "ladies" too!

DRUG PAST DEMONS OF 'GREY' STAR DAKOTA

DAKOTA Johnson has a box-office smash with the kinky hit film "Fifty Shades of Grey" – but friends fear the daughter of Melanie Griffith and "Miami Vice" star Don Johnson is risking a return to rehab!

The 25-year-old starlet has a troubled secret past, including a stint in a 30-day treatment program for drug and alcohol addiction when she was just 17, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

Said a family insider: "Dakota was out of control at the time, and if she didn't get help, she may have very well ended up dead or in jail."

Now close pals are worried about Dakota handling the pressure of newfound fame – especially since her parents have an extensive history of destructive addictions!

Don was admitted to the Betty Ford Center in 1994 for drug and alcohol abuse, and returned to rehab in 2001.

Melanie became a star with her own daring role as a porn star in the 1984 thriller "Body Double," and has spent at least three stints in rehab, struggling with painkillers, alcohol and cocaine – most recently in 2009.

PRESIDENT TRUMP, YOU'RE HIRED!

Poll puts billionaire atop list of political candidates

Of a 2016 run, Donald said: "I'm looking at it very seriously"

DONALD Trump is in "secret talks" to run for president in 2016 after a new national poll has him beating out top Republican names for the nomination.

The National ENQUIRER can reveal that the billionaire businessman – and star of NBC's "The Apprentice" – is meeting with Washington, D.C., insiders clamoring for The Donald to take on expected Democratic front-runner Hillary Clinton in the race for the White House!

Even former doubters have woken up to the popularity of the real estate mogul, with Donald as the most popular candidate in a political survey that included top GOP contenders like former Florida Gov. Jeb Bush, New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie, Florida Sen. Marco Rubio, former Arkansas Gov. Mike Huckabee and former Alaska Gov. Sarah Palin.

"There is a groundswell of support from all across America for Donald Trump to run in 2016," Michael Cohen, executive vice president of the Trump Organization, told The ENQUIRER. "If this poll is any indication, he's already trounced Jeb Bush, Christie, Huckabee, Rubio and Palin!"

But Michael cautioned that Donald hasn't made up his mind about a presidential run, and a source said: "They're in secret meetings discussing that very thing right now. Donald is clearly interested."

Donald shocked political pundits with a January appearance at the 2015 Iowa Freedom Summit, where he took to the podium and upstaged plenty of the GOP's biggest names – with one report noting that the popular personality "scored some of the day's biggest applause lines."

In a previous exclusive interview with The ENQUIRER, Donald said he would be prepared to tap into his massive personal fortune of more than $6 billion to finance a presidential campaign, ensuring that he could run as a candidate who isn't tied to corporate special interests.

And Donald hasn't been shy about his views on the Obama administration.

"America is being laughed at by the rest of the world – and things must change before it's too late," Donald told The ENQUIRER.

"Today, Americans feel as if we're the whipping post for other countries. We will not be a great country in the not-too-distant future if we don't change our ways!"

The 68-year-old father of five also told The ENQUIRER his Slovenian-born model wife, Melania, would make a terrific First Lady.

"Melania is a good person and a phenomenal mother," he said. "She's proud to be an American citizen, and she sees the problems we face in this country."

Phil Donahue

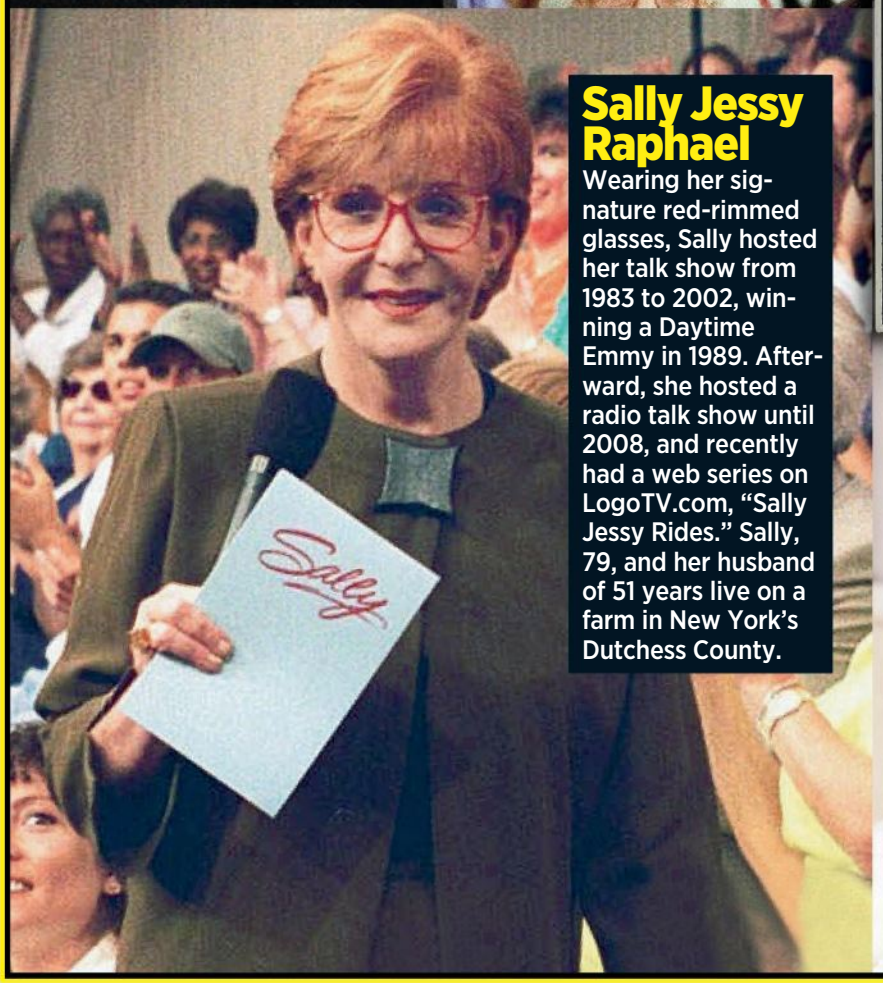

Since his show ended its 29-year run in 1996, Phil has devoted himself to passion projects, including the 2007 pro-peace documentary, "Body of War." Now 79, he and his wife, Marlo Thomas, happily split their time between homes in New York City and Westport, Conn.

Dick Cavett

Known as talk's intellectual alternative, Dick hosted multiple shows from 1968 to 1996. Today at 78, he admits to suffering from bouts of depression, but still writes a blog for The New York Times. He recently starred in the Broadway play, "Hellman vs. McCarthy."

WHERE HAVE ALL THE TALK SHOW HOSTS GONE?

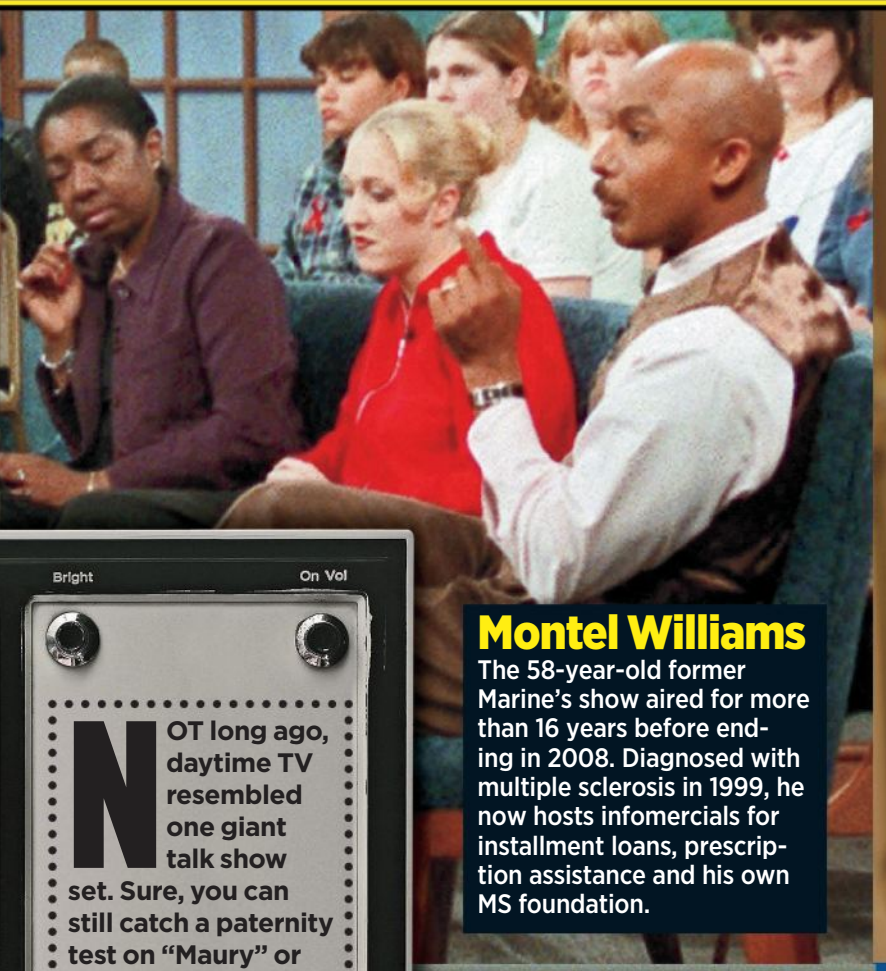

Sally Jessy Raphael

Wearing her signature red-rimmed glasses, Sally hosted her talk show from 1983 to 2002, winning a Daytime Emmy in 1989. Afterward, she hosted a radio talk show until 2008, and recently had a web series on LogoTV.com, "Sally Jessy Rides." Sally, 79, and her husband of 51 years live on a farm in New York's Dutchess County.

Ricki Lake

At 25, the "Cry Baby" star was the youngest talk show host ever when her show debuted in 1993. During its 11-year run, she got married, had two sons and divorced her husband. Since then, she's made documentaries about childbirth and breast milk, and recently split from her second husband.

Montel Williams

The 58-year-old former Marine's show aired for more than 16 years before ending in 2008. Diagnosed with multiple sclerosis in 1999, he now hosts infomercials for installment loans, prescription assistance and his own MS foundation.

NOT long ago, daytime TV resembled one giant talk show set. Sure, you can still catch a paternity test on "Maury" or a wrestling match on "Springer" – but if you're wondering where the rest of those hosts are, The National ENQUIRER has the answers.

Bonnie Hunt

Critics loved the Emmy-nominated "Bonnie Hunt Show," but it only aired from 2008 to 2010. Since then, Bonnie, 53, has done voice work on "Cars 2," "Toy Story 3" and "Monsters University." A former oncology nurse, she also raises money for cancer research.

Jenny Jones

The former stand-up comic, whose talk show aired from 1991 to 2003, now shares recipes on her website, jennycancook.com. Jenny, 68, had her breast implants removed after they caused major health complications, and she now raises money to fight breast cancer.

Regis Philbin

Retirement doesn't agree with 83-year-old "Reege." As The ENQUIRER reported, the former "Live" host has been desperate to get back in the game since he quit over a salary dispute in 2011. No offers so far, although he reunited with Kathie Lee Gifford on "Today" when Hoda Kotb was on vacation.

Jay Z, Beyoncé & the billion dollar baby!

WORLD EXCLUSIVE

After a 21-year cover-up, the rapper's accused of avoiding a paternity test

MUSIC megastar Jay Z is embroiled in a secret love-child scandal that could ignite a nasty billion-dollar divorce battle with his wife Beyoncé.

In explosive court papers obtained by The National ENQUIRER, it's revealed that Shawn Corey Carter, known by his stage name Jay Z, is desperately trying to avoid taking a DNA test that could prove he's the father of an adult son!

The love child, Rymir Satterthwaite, blew wide open the 21-year cover-up by telling a New Jersey court that his mother, Wanda, had steamy sex sessions with Jay Z in the early 1990s – before he would go on to become one of the world's best-selling artists of all time.

The ENQUIRER has learned that a devastated Rymir, through his legal guardian, filed a civil lawsuit in Dec. 2014, in which he accused the 45-year-old rapper and entrepreneur of blatantly lying to a court to avoid taking a paternity test!

The revelations are so shocking they could destroy the couple's fragile seven-year marriage, just months after they renewed their vows in a blaze of publicity.

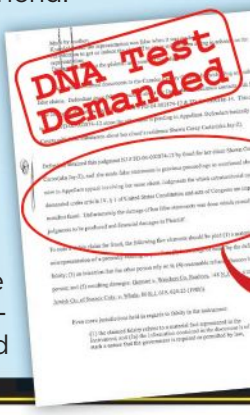

IN OCTOBER, JAY Z and "Crazy in Love" diva Beyoncé attempted to defuse a whirlwind of whispers that they were ready to split after leaked footage showed the sister of Beyoncé, Solange, attacking Jay Z in a New York City elevator.

The pair said "I do" – again – while traveling in Europe.

"Beyoncé convinced herself that things had changed after the hell Jay put her through last year," said a friend.

But at the same time, it can now be disclosed, Jay Z was battling behind the scenes to contain the controversy over his alleged son Rymir, an aspiring rapper.

And according to sources close to the couple, the revelation is sure to jolt Beyoncé, who has one child

AR APART THE WORLD'S MOST POWERFUL MUSIC COUPLE

The stars' marriage has been strained again amid rumors about Jay Z's alleged son, Rymir, far left with Jay Z, the adorable Blue Ivy, age 3.

One pal close to hip-hop's royal family said: "Beyoncé is in pieces over what a divorce means to her. But if Jay Z has fathered a love child, I'm sure she wouldn't have any option. There's only so much anyone can take!"

What's more, Beyoncé could have reason to be concerned: According to renowned plastic surgeon Dr. Anthony Youn, photo evidence could prove beyond any doubt that Jay Z fathered Rymir because the pair share many features!

"Their facial structures appear very similar," said Dr. Youn, who compared photos The ENQUIRER snapped on Feb. 3 to images of the "99 Problems" singer. "It could be a sign of inheritance!"

IN A SERIES of blockbuster disclosures, we can reveal Jay Z has somehow been able to keep a lid on the crisis for five years ... until now.

Wanda unsuccessfully tried to compel Jay Z to submit to a test back in 2010 after another man turned out not to be Rymir's dad.

A family court judge in New Jersey originally dismissed the case only because he ruled his court lacked jurisdiction over Jay Z – and not because he concluded Rymir was not fathered by Jay Z.

Defendant obtained this judgment NJ # FD-04-002874-12 by fraud for her client Shawn Corey Carter(aka Jay-Z), and she made false statements in previous proceedings as mentioned above which is now in Appellant appeal involving her same client. Judgments for which extraterritorial operation is demanded under article IV, § 1 of United States Constitution and acts of Congress are impeachable for manifest fraud. Unfortunately the damage of her false statements was done which caused fraudulent judgments to be produced and financial damages to Plaintiff.

Indeed, Judge Edward McBride's dismissal of the case paved the way for Rymir's guardian – a paralegal named Lillie Coley – to file the civil lawsuit last year, claiming that Jay Z lied.

In the papers, Lillie alleged Jay Z and his lawyer, Lise Fisher, provided "fraudulent" and "false" information to a judge.

She further argued Jay Z lied to the court when he claimed he lived in Manhattan, New York, and not New Jersey, where he reportedly owns three houses.

Rymir and Lillie also argued Jay Z fibbed when he said his legal residence was on Broadway in Manhattan, when in reality, the address mentioned is the record producer and entrepreneur's office.

Another address cited by Jay Z is a parking garage, it's claimed! [A spokesperson for Jay Z did not return The ENQUIRER's request for comment.]

But as the courtroom drama plays out, Rymir has been struggling to pay college and medical bills, he bemoaned on his website – all while dealing with the trauma of profound rejection!

NEWS OF THE scandal will send shockwaves through the music community but should come as no shock to those who've followed Jay Z's tumultuous personal life.

Previously it was alleged that the rapper fathered a young boy 13 years ago with Trinidad model Shenelle Scott.

In 2011, Jerald Andrews said his son, Malik Sayeed, was wrongly identified as the father of Shenelle's son, and claimed that DNA tests proved Jay Z was the boy's biological dad.

"At the time [he] was born, my son Malik thought he was his child, but they did DNA tests," Jerald said in a published interview. "It's been determined that [the child is] Jay Z's baby."

Jay Z reportedly paid the beauty $1 million in return for keeping his name off the birth certificate.

Now Beyoncé's closest pals are terrified this latest controversy could jolt her into a costly divorce.

"Jay Z would walk away with the majority of their fortune," said an insider. "Beyoncé's put everything in his hands and she would be totally lost without him – so the idea of hiring a lawyer and going through a messy divorce is an unthinkable nightmare!"

Instagram website just hours before the tragedy under the name "Edwin Demarco."

SPEAKING TO THE ENQUIRER at a hotel in Georgia where she remained holed up to avoid the glaring eyes of the world's media, Marlene provided this first account of those final minutes of terror – amid continued silence from Bobbi Kristina's family.

"Our impression is that Max dragged her body out of the tub," Marlene said.

"Danyela said she knew for a fact she hadn't been in the bathroom for long.

"Danyela said, 'It makes no sense. [Bobbi Kristina] was completely naked. She was in a tub of ice cold water.

"I can tell you she didn't put herself in the tub. No woman would take a bath in a tub of cold water. She would be dead if it were not for us. Max and I gave her CPR.'"

MARLENE SAID THAT Danyela remains "very upset" days after the incident, adding: "From the way she has been talking, she believes Nick did something to [Bobbi Kristina] before she was found.

"I truly believe that she believes Max is innocent – but we are worried that Danyela is trying to protect Max because she believes she is in love with him."

Still, Danyela confided inside and shocking information with her family about the secret world of Bobbi Kristina and her allegedly violent husband, including her explosive claim that the young couple had been fighting constantly.

"Danyela heard Nick screaming and yelling," she revealed.

"They fought constantly. It seemed strange because when you met them, they seemed so in love. They addressed each other as 'husband' and 'wife.'"

MARLENE ADDED: "Danyela said, 'Krissi does all the drugs that Whitney did and more – including heroin. She uses anything that is put in front of her."

Despite knowing about Bobbi Kristina's deadly drug habits, it still couldn't keep Danyela from hanging out with her famous friend – with Bobbi Kristina even wrecking Danyela's car just days before that horrific incident.

Police have confirmed the Jan. 27 accident to The ENQUIRER, saying Bobbi Kristina lost control of the vehicle near an intersection and then veered into on-coming traffic before striking another car.

The 41-year-old male driver of that car was hospitalized.

Danyela was also taken to the hospital, and Marlene said her daughter suffered head trauma and other injuries.

However, Bobbi Kristina was apparently uninjured. She escaped the earlier life or death moment with simply a vehicular charge.

Said Marlene: "My concern right now is that I want my daughter to come back home. It breaks my heart to see her this way. She hated drugs. She was an innocent, happy high school student who dreamed of becoming a chef – before she met these people and fell under their influence."

BOBBI KRISTINA

BOBBI KRISTINA INVESTIGATION ENQUIRER

The most shocking possibility is that a violent fight erupted and led to her death and that she was moved to the tub to cover up an attempted murder

THESE explosive photos unlock the secrets behind the Bobbi Kristina Brown tragedy and illustrate her final minutes of terror – according to various police theories.

While Whitney Houston fans around the globe mourn the tragic downfall of the pop superstar's troubled daughter, outraged family members are questioning the actions of her boyfriend, Nick Gordon, and demanding to know the cause of bruises on her chest and suspicious injuries around her face and mouth.

In a blockbuster world exclusive, The National ENQUIRER has learned one shocking theory cops have considered – whether Nick suffocated his 21-year-old lover in a fit of rage and dragged her comatose body to the bathroom of their Roswell, Ga., home, where he staged a suicide scene.

'S TERRIFYING LAST MOMENTS

DRAMATICALLY RECREATES COPS' PROBE INTO WHITNEY'S TRAGIC DAUGHTER

THEORY ONE: FOUL PLAY

"There are four working theories and one of them involves foul play at the hands of Nick Gordon," a law enforcement source told The ENQUIRER.

POLICE HAD BEEN called to Bobbi Kristina's suburban home just eight days before the young woman was found unresponsive in a water-filled bathtub on Jan. 31, but when cops responded to the report of a fight, no one was home.

Fueling the suspicion, police have been informed the couple had a brutal history of fighting, sources said. Nick, who has a criminal record, is notorious for packing a pistol and having a violent temper.

As a result, detectives have considered whether Bobbi Kristina could have been knocked out by Nick during another explosive confrontation, with the boyfriend desperately trying to "cover up" what he thought was her death, according to a source.

BOLSTERING THAT DRAMATIC theory, Bobbi Kristina may have been ready to dump Nick and move away to California, as The ENQUIRER previously reported.

Said a source: "That could have culminated in a massive fight if he thought she was going to leave him!

"In a rage, Nick could have suffocated or strangled her.

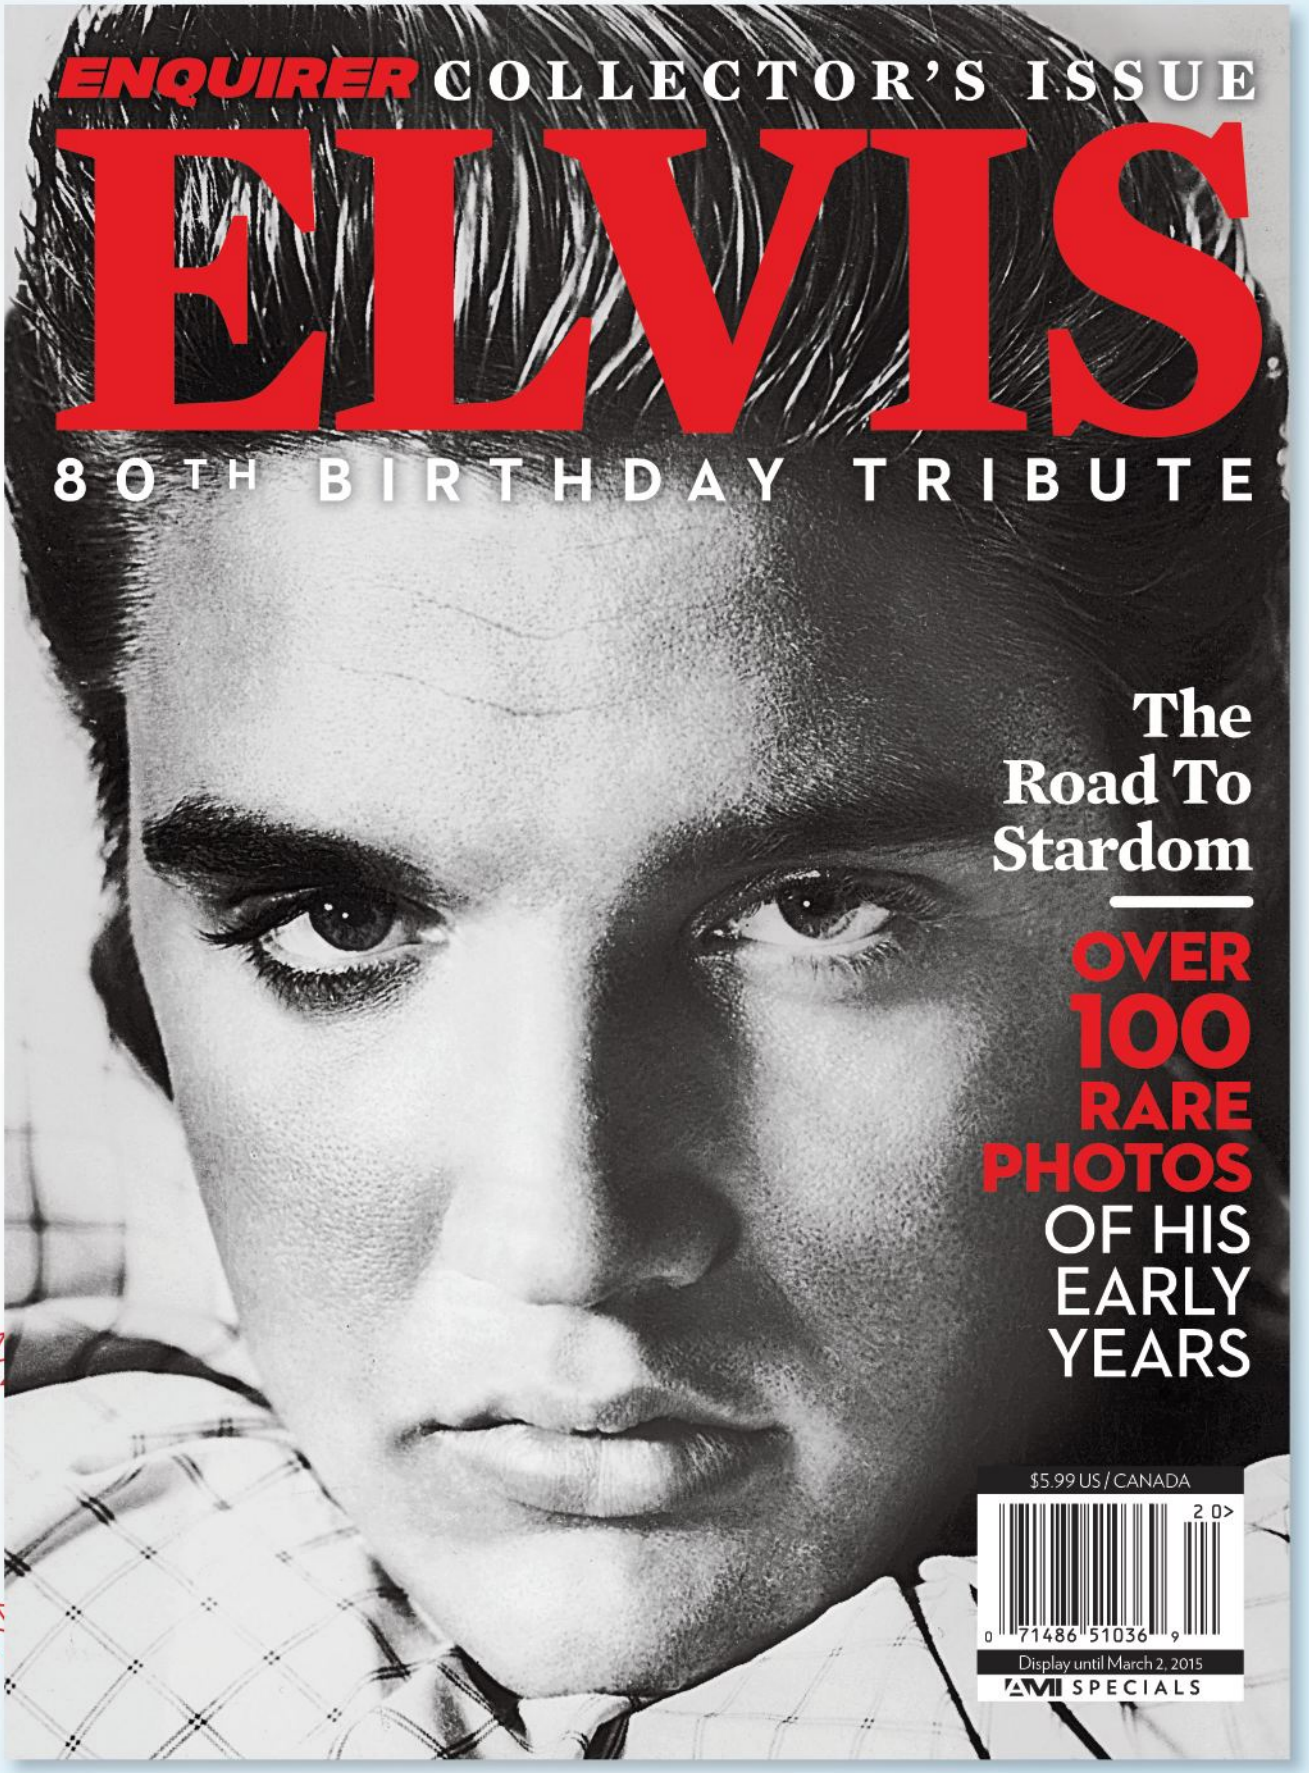

"Then, in a panic, he could have decided to cover up what he thought was her death even though he may not have known she was actually still alive."

Dr. William Manion, a renowned forensic investigator who is not involved in the case, told The ENQUIRER: "You could strangle [or suffocate] somebody into unconsciousness and then put them in water to stage that it was a drowning."

A known drug user, the young woman may have overdosed, and been taken to the tub in an attempt to bring her back to life

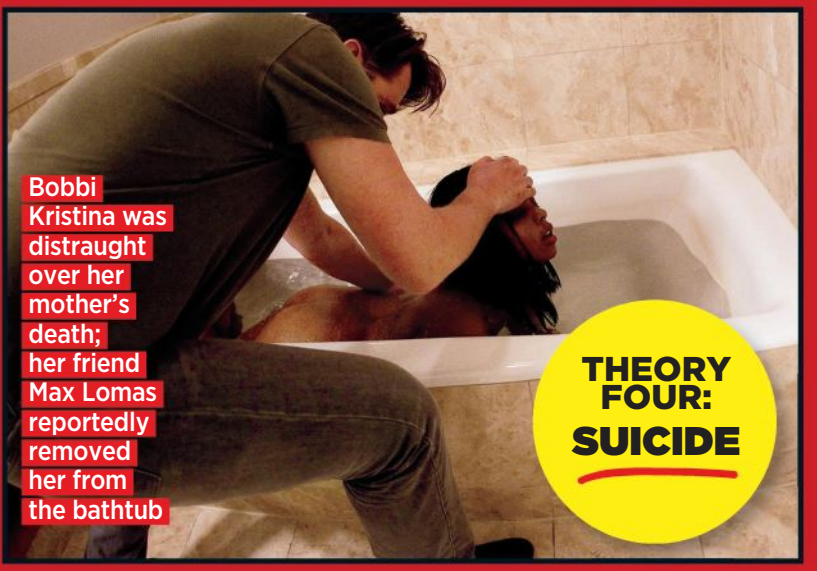

THEORY TWO: DRUG OVERDOSE

THEORY THREE: ACCIDENT

A car accident just days before she was found may have triggered a seizure or some other undiagnosed problem

Bobbi Kristina was distraught over her mother's death; her friend Max Lomas reportedly removed her from the bathtub

THEORY FOUR: SUICIDE

This "foul play" theory is supported by a report that a blow-up took place between Nick and Bobbi Kristina just one hour before she was discovered.

In addition, Max Lomas, an accused drug dealer who claimed he found Bobbi Kristina in the tub and called 911, reportedly told investigators that Nick cleaned up the crime scene before police arrived.

Noted private eye and former NYPD investigator Bo Dietl told The ENQUIRER: "That to me, as a former homicide detective, is not a good thing. If you do nothing wrong, then you've got nothing to hide."

According to Nick, the injuries and bruising on Bobbi Kristina's chest was the result of performing CPR on her.

But sources said police were also examining a possible head injury.

NICK ISSUED HIS first public comment Feb. 12 and said through his attorney he "remains in constant prayer for his companion and he hopes to be reunited with her soon."

But Bobbi Kristina's distraught aunt Leolah Brown fired back and claimed: "I believe Nick Gordon will be charged with this. Oh yes, 110 percent."

Tragically the one thing not in dispute in the sordid affair is the significant role drugs played. Reports said police, on a second search of the crime scene, allegedly found drugs.

Another theory being looked into by police is that Bobbi Kristina actually suffered a heroin overdose – and was put into a cold bath to revive her, a common yet flawed procedure in overdose cases.

These pictures, above, provide the graphic evidence, showing how that fatal scenario could have played out inside the home.

WHAT'S MORE, IF she did overdose, she could have suffocated on her own vomit, or passed out facedown on a pillow.

Authorities are also considering that Bobbi Kristina, despondent over the third anniversary of her mother's death, attempted suicide in a fashion remarkably similar to how her mother was found in a water-filled bathtub at a Beverly Hills hotel.

A fourth scenario is that Bobbi Kristina had a legitimate medical emergency.

She was in a car accident just days before the horrific incident and could have had a seizure or some other undiagnosed injury, it's believed.

Investigator Bo told The ENQUIRER: "In a case like this, you have to look at every aspect of it to make sure you eliminate every aspect of foul play."

Taylor died broke after family made off with $600 million, says her angry son-in-law

SHE was one of Hollywood's most glamorous stars – but screen legend Elizabeth Taylor died practically "broke" after her estate was looted in her final days, The National ENQUIRER has learned!

The shocking details are revealed in bombshell court documents The ENQUIRER obtained from the bitter divorce battle between Elizabeth's daughter, Maria Burton, and Maria's hubby, Thomas McKeown.

A frustrated McKeown made the stunning charges in a string of emails sent to Maria, 53, in an attempt to get her to drop the divorce suit she filed last fall.

Thomas McKeown

The couple has been married for 14 years – and now McKeown, 59, has threatened to expose family secrets in a tell-all book about the star, her four children and Liz's boyfriend/manager, Jason Winters.

"Don't f--- with me or my lawyer or Penguin [Books] is publishing all the crap about your family and Elizabeth's final years BROKE," McKeown wrote in one explosive email.

"I will have lawyers up all your a---s so far they will be seeing daylight, along with 3 publishers that want the rights about my story of the fraud perpetrated on your mother," he ranted in another missive.

Maria entered the threatening emails as evidence while seeking a temporary restraining order against McKeown.

Maria also accused McKeown of suffering from mood swings that would often lead to violent behavior – and terrified their 13-year-old son.

The court papers cite a 2003 incident from when the family lived in New Jersey: "I was asleep, [McKeown] grabbed me by my t-shirt front and punched me in the right eye several times, calling me all kinds of names and blaming me for everything that happened to him."

In another terrifying attack that same year, McKeown was accused of trying to set his family home on fire.

The husband was upset the "Cleopatra" actress had hired a nanny to watch his son, and believed the new employee was really a bodyguard assigned to protect Liz's daughter and grandson.

Maria soon fled with her child to her mother's Los Angeles mansion, as McKeown publicly accused Liz of kidnapping his son. Maria filed for a legal separation, but later – to Liz's horror – reconciled with her hubby.

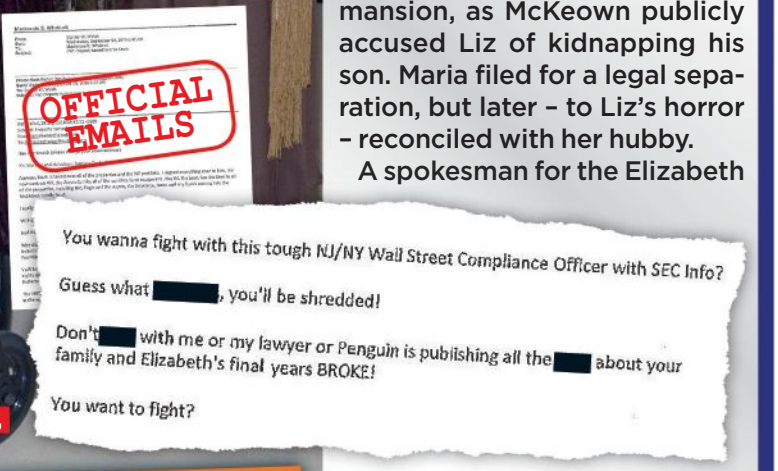

A spokesman for the Elizabeth Taylor Trust said: "There is absolutely no merit to Mr. McKeown's false assertions," but her son-in-law is still after what's left of the Elizabeth Taylor estate.

Court documents examined by The ENQUIRER reveal that Maria gets $22,000 a month from the "Elizabeth Taylor Trust," plus a yearly $56,000 salary from working for her mother's ET Cosmetics company.

As an angry McKeown declared in another email: "I want 50% of everything, including the Trust distribution which you inherited while we were married."

All The BUZZ

Enquiring minds want to know

WILL THE OSCAR OMEN PROMPT HER SECOND DIVORCE?

Sick Cher wants to see Cruise

AN AILING Cher desperately wants Tom Cruise to take a break from Oscar season parties – so he can visit her as she recovers from a "killer" virus!

The pair briefly dated back in the 1980s, and an insider told The ENQUIRER: "She's held a torch for Tom for years. She's still in love with him and wants nothing more than for him to visit.

"Cher thinks it would be the best medicine in the world for her!"

As The ENQUIRER reported, the pop diva, 68, could have only months to live after being struck by a virus in September that's affected her heart, liver and kidneys.

Reese fears curse

REESE Witherspoon is telling pals that she's worried the curse of a Best Actress Oscar will once again drive her to divorce.

Dozens of actresses – including Kate Winslet, Hilary Swank and Halle Berry – have won the award only to lose a husband.

In fact, 60 percent of all leading ladies divorced after taking home a coveted statue.

That already includes 38-year-old Reese, who divorced Ryan Phillippe [pictured inset] after taking Best Actress for 2005's "Walk the Line."

"Reese is secretly hoping she doesn't win the Best Actress Oscar because she got a divorce last time," said a pal.

"She wants to work on her marriage, not let it slip through her fingers."

The star's relationship with talent agent Jim Toth is already on rocky terrain, said pals.

"Reese is a tough gal, and not the little sweetheart she plays in her acting roles," said an insider.

"She really wants this marriage."

Classic ENQUIRER

The ENQUIRER outed Arnold Schwarzenegger's philandering ways this week in 2001 – a decade before Maria Shriver filed for divorce after finding out he had a love child with the family maid. A source alleged Arnie was "obsessed with sex" and had "the worst reputation in Hollywood for groping and grabbing!"

Oscar sex swag

This year's Oscar goodie bag for nominees hits a record $125,000 in value – with unlikely gifts such as a sex toy, a gift certificate for mind control lessons and natural sea salts worth $1,500!

Clint rides trial marriage!

WITH his $375 million divorce to second wife Dina Ruiz behind him, The ENQUIRER has learned that Clint Eastwood is entering into a "trial marriage" with girlfriend Christina Sandera.

"It's like she's hit the lottery – she's gone from working as a hostess at Clint's Mission Ranch restaurant to shacking up with 'Dirty Harry' himself!" said an insider.

While Clint's lawyer said the superstar has no intention of marrying again, sources said the two-time Oscar winner, 84, and Christina are moving into a multi-million-dollar home that Clint had custom-built with Dina before their split.

Sean's pledge to Charlize

SEAN Penn's violent past almost put an end to his love for Charlize Theron – but the star proposed to his fellow Oscar winner with a pledge to never be like her violent father!

That still can't ease the mind of Charlize's mom, Gerda, who killed Charlize's dad in self-defense after he threatened her and Charlize, then 15.

Sean began his proposal to Charlize in Paris by promising, "I'm not like your father," sources said. Our insider said: "It was pretty emotional for both of them."

But Gerda is terrified that Charlize, 39, is heading into a twisted relationship with the 54-year-old Hollywood hothead – one that parallels her own love for Charlize's deranged dad.

The ENQUIRER reported last February Gerda "believes a marriage would be a disaster ... She wants nothing to do with Sean, and hopes Charlize will see the light before it's too late."

Ryan & Ali's real life LOVE STORY

Stars of the classic tearjerker plan to wed

IT TOOK 45 years, but Ryan O'Neal and Ali MacGraw are getting a happy ending to their "Love Story" – as the doomed lovers of the 1970 hit film start planning a real-life wedding!

"Ryan and Ali can't believe it took all this time for a love connection to happen between them. But Ryan keeps saying, 'Better late than never!'" a source told The National ENQUIRER.

The former co-stars were reunited for an interview last year – and Ryan, 73, didn't miss the chance to proclaim, "I love her and have always loved her!"

Ali, 75, cautiously replied, "There's a line around the block of [Ryan's] broken hearts."

But after the interview, said the source: "Ryan and Ali began to bond over stories about the ups and downs of their lives.

"It wasn't long before Ryan admitted to Ali that he was falling in love with her.

"Ali was shocked, because she felt the same way!

"Neither wants to waste any time. Ryan proposed to Ali over the holidays, and they're planning a small, intimate wedding in June."

The insider also revealed that the nuptials might include the classic line from the film that first brought Ryan and Ali together.

"When Ryan apologized to Ali for not pursuing her until their golden years, she said, 'Ryan, love means never having to say you're sorry.'"

Richard and Jane at the Grammys Feb. 8, less than a month after his rumored health scare

Jaded Jane!

Fonda EXHAUSTED by caring for ailing beau

JUGGLING her career and caring for her ailing boyfriend has Jane Fonda running ragged, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

"Jane is shouldering a lot of stress and it's taking a toll," according to a source close to the 77-year-old screen icon.

"She was very thin to begin with, but she looks downright gaunt these days. She's also suffering from anxiety and exhaustion."

Jane's beau, 72-year-old music producer Richard Perry, suffers from Parkinson's disease, and was rumored to require emergency medical care at the Golden Globes on Jan. 11.

Jane's rep later denied that Richard was the stricken guest, but the source said: "Richard's Parkinson's is progressing, and Jane has taken on the role of his primary caretaker."

While the two have been together since 2009, The ENQUIRER recently reported that Richard felt neglected when Jane's career heated up.

The two-time Oscar winner is in the midst of multiple film projects, and also acts as unofficial marriage counselor for friends Ellen DeGeneres and her wife, Portia de Rossi.

The source added: "Friends are begging Jane to hire additional help and cut back on her work commitments.

YOUR HEALTH

BY DR. STUART FISCHER, GIA PORTFOLIO & LAURIE MILLER

A TREATMENT WORTH ITS SALT!

Celebs like model Molly Sims have long praised salt as a remedy for sore throat and inflamed sinuses. Now trendy spas are taking it to the next level with "halotherapy," where you inhale particles of ionized, pharmaceutical-grade salt.

"Saline steam could theoretically be very helpful by lubricating the air sacs," explained internist Dr. Stuart Fischer, who's a fan of the treatment.

A single treatment typically ranges from $30 to $55.

HEALTH NEWS YOU'LL USE

DENTAL TIPS TO MAKE YOU SMILE

JESSICA Simpson famously pronounced she doesn't brush her teeth, saying: "I just use Listerine – and sometimes I'll use my sweater." Not surprisingly, a qualified dentist knows more about preserving oral health. Here are some toothy tips to chew on: Sip coffee slowly. "Drinking small amounts of sweetened coffee over hours corrodes teeth more than cramming chocolate cake in your mouth!" said Mark S. Wolff, DDS, Ph.D. That's because the length of exposure to sugar creates a breeding ground for tooth decay. Another suggestion: Limit whitening teeth to once a month to avoid stripping valuable enamel. Instead, use acidic fruits like pineapple, strawberries and apples as natural whiteners.

CURB YOUR APPETITE!

Now you can help curb hunger for hours with the new HydroxyCut Appetite Control weight loss supplement. Packed with kelp fiber and three grams of fiber per serving – plus Appethyl, a healthy spinach extract – the new non-stimulant formula mixes into a delicious, triple thick fruit smoothie. Each box contains 14 convenient packets. Just mix, drink and enjoy! Buy it now at Walmart and Walgreens.

MINIMIZE RISK OF EARLY MENOPAUSE!

Household products and environmental hazards may put you at risk of early menopause! Endocrine-disrupting chemicals (EDCs) are present in our drinking water and in all types of plastics, warned Natalia Grindler, M.D., of the University of Colorado department of obstetrics and gynecology. To minimize the risk, limit use of plastics in cooking.

QUESTION YOUR ANTIDEPRESSANT

LOTS of people pop antidepressants as if they were aspirin, but while they're more available and accepted than ever, everyone should ask key questions before taking one.

Is the drug FDA-approved? What are its typical side effects? What is the success rate? Is the drug covered by insurance? Coverage varies by drug and illness, so make sure to check with your doctor and provider before committing to one. And make sure to discuss an exit strategy with your doctor since antidepressants can only treat, not cure, a problem.

TOP TIPS TO CLOUT GOUT

Gout, a metabolic abnormality that causes burning pain, stiffness and joint swelling, afflicts an estimated eight million folks.

It's caused by too much uric acid in the blood, either natural or induced by lifestyle excesses. Gout risk soars if you're overweight, or overindulge in alcohol, rich food, red meat or fish high in chemicals called purines. In its earliest stages, elevating your legs and drinking plenty of water help minimize pain. Then cut down on booze and sweetened beverages. And see a doctor!

FIGHT THE MEASLES OUTBREAK

Help spot and battle an epidemic

"The science is clear. The earth is round. The sky is blue and vaccines work. Let's protect our kids. Grandmothers know best."
Hillary Clinton

FORMER First Lady Hillary Clinton strongly supports national vaccinations for measles – and the reasons are clear: The contagious virus that attacks the upper respiratory system has made an epic comeback. In 2014, a total of 644 cases were reported in 27 states. And in Jan. 2015 alone, 102 cases have already been reported. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) report that 90 percent of non-immunized people who are exposed to measles will become infected. Here's what you need to know.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

1 HOW YOU CAN GET IT

Just being in the same room as someone with measles can cause infection, as the virus is airborne. It can live on surfaces or in the air for up to two hours following contamination.

2 WHAT ARE THE SIGNS?

Flu-like symptoms appear over a few weeks – fever, cough, runny nose, watery eyes and white spots inside the mouth. Later, a red rash develops over the entire body.

3 KIDS' VACCINE GUIDELINES

Children should get two doses of MMR (measles, mumps and rubella) vaccine, with the first dose at 12–15 months of age, and the second dose at 4–6 years, the CDC advises.

4 WORST-CASE SCENARIOS?

Measles can progress to pneumonia, infection of the brain, seizures, brain damage and even death. About three out of 10 people will develop one or more complications.

5 TREATMENT

There is no specific treatment because measles is caused by a virus. Rest, take acetaminophen and drink lots of water. Taking vitamin A may make the illness milder.

6 ADULT VACCINATION

Protection lasts decades, and the shot is over 95 percent effective during that time. Additional doses are not harmful, so get another if you aren't sure you've had one.

CRYPTOGRAM QUOTES

FAMOUS QUOTES FROM YOUR FAVORITE PEOPLE

Cryptograms are coded messages. To solve the Cryptogram, each coded letter must be replaced by the answer letter in the box overhead. When you solve the code for a letter, write the answer letter in the box everywhere the coded letter appears. Look for common words and letter patterns to break the code. Words like AND, I, THE and A are found frequently. Common word endings are ING, S and E.

Attention-seeking Jen

Jennifer Aniston is a joke. She's been engaged forever and now she treats herself to an in-home spa [All the Buzz, Jan. 26]? Has she ever thought to "give"?

–Wanda T.
Greenwell Springs, La.

Ease up or lose her!

At Donny Osmond's age ["'Workaholic' Donny Gets Stern Warning from Wife," Dec. 22], he should be spending more time with family, NOT less. Wise up, or Debbie may find someone else.

–Don R.
Lakewood, Colo.

Letter of the Week

Jen exposed!

$50

Loved your article with the widow of actor Daniel McDonald putting Jennifer Aniston in her place ["'Shameless' Jen Blasted," Feb. 2]. To me, she is a B-movie star who's always man-hunting and trying to gain sympathy for her sad love life. Keep up the good work exposing the actors and actresses who think they're all that!

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

Rupert has posed for dozens of elaborate photos, including as a student, a tennis player, brushing his teeth and as a cricket batsman. You can find him on Facebook by searching for Rupert Whippet

WHAT A POSER!

A DOG may be man's best friend, but this pooch's best pal is a camera!

Rupert the Whippet digs dressing up in a wide array of outfits and strutting his stuff for the pup-arazzi!

The model pooch's owner discovered Rupert's star potential when she caught the talented tail-wagger standing on his hind legs and pushing a lawnmower when he was just 10 months old!

"The photos started by accident," said Janet Burton, 56, of Staffordshire, England.

"He looks like he's concentrating on the job … like he knows what he's doing!"

Janet, a retired nurse, realized she had a natural ham on her hands, and began posing her adorable pup in a number of inventive scenarios.

Rupert's been snapped drawing a bath in his robe, ironing, playing tennis, washing the car and even shoveling snow!

"He doesn't mind wearing the outfits," explained Janet. "A lot of Whippets wear little jackets in winter."

The pictures have become so popular that Rupert stars in his own calendar, and attracts a ton of traffic to his personal Facebook page.

"I was receiving so many messages from people enjoying the photos that we created a Facebook page just for them!" said the cute canine's proud mama.

The photos have brought many smiles, and one person paid Janet the ultimate compliment. An American fan wrote to say his mom was having a tough time battling breast cancer, but her day was brightened when she saw Rupert's poses.

A delighted Janet added: "Sometimes it is the little things that make all the difference."
